

Too Much

Sufjan Stevens

If I was a different man
If I had the blood in my e-e-eyes
I could have read of your heart
I could have read of your h-h-heart Now I'm lonely instead, I pick up a fight
So pick up your battle and with love
I want to see it There's too much riding on that
There's too much, too much, too much love
There's too much riding on that
There's too much, too much, too much love There's too much riding on that
There's too much, too much, too much love
There's too much riding on that anyway, ey, yeah And maybe I'm talking too fast
And maybe I'm talking too much
Give me the sensitive laugh Don't give me the sensitive touch
Even if I could have kissed
And even if I could be the blood
I'm so sorry, I'll try love
I want to see it There's too much riding on that
There's too much, too much, too much love
There's too much riding on that
There's too much, too much, too much love There's too much riding on that
There's too much, too much, too much love
There's too much riding on that anyway, ey, yeah
