I Fall Apart

Elton John

Without you I no longer swim upstream
Where are you when I try to fill the spaces in between
The red letter days and all the pain
And while I remain shipwrecked everything has changed
And I fall apart
With this threat of indecision hanging in my heart
This house can get so lonely when the day grows dark
And it seems to be the night time when I fall apart
Can't you tell the shadows no longer comfort me
I don't feel the need to cling to anyone I see
This fool's suffered gladly each and every day
I don't wish to reconsider, I wish they'd stay away
And I fall apart
With this threat of indecision hanging in my heart
This house can get so lonely when the day grows dark
And it seems to be the night time when I fall apart
I've no care to count the stares that pity me
I'll wash your hurt away just you wait and see
For every rose you give her, I'll give you three
But in the meantime I'll just wish that she was me
Oh, I fall apart
With this threat of indecision hanging in my heart
This house can get so lonely, oh, when the day grows dark
And it seems to be the night time when I fall apart
I fall apart, oh, I fall apart
This house can get so lonely, oh, when the day grows dark
And it seems to be the night time when I fall apart
Oh, I fall apart
Oh, I get so lonely, oh, when the day grows dark
And it seems to be the night time when I fall apart
With this threat of indecision hanging in my heart
This house can get so lonely, oh, when the day grows dark
