Destiny

Erik Santos

I lie awake, I've gone to ground
I'm watchin' porn
In my hotel dressing gown
Now I dream of you but I still believe
There's only enough for one in this lonely hotel suite
The journey's long and it feels so bad
I'm thinkin' back to the last day we had
Old moon fades into the new
Soon I know I'll be back with you
I'm nearly with you, I'm nearly with you
When I'm weak, I draw strength from you
And when you're lost, I know how to change your mood
And when I'm down, you breathe life over me
Even though we're miles apart, we are each other's destiny
On a clear day, I'll fly home to you

I'm bendin' time and I'm gettin' back to you
Old moon fades into the new
Soon I know I'll be back with you
I'm nearly with you, I'm nearly with you
When I'm weak, I draw strength from you
And when you're lost, I know how to change your mood
And when I'm down, you breathe life over me
Even though we're miles apart, we are each other's destiny
When I'm weak, I draw strength from you
And when you're lost, I know how to change your mood
And when I'm down, you breathe life over me
Even though we're miles apart, we are each other's destiny
I'll fly, I'll fly home
I'll fly home and I'll fly home

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/