

A Life Embossed

Protest the Hero

A breed? No, a series of breeds.
It's not a single type or a single gloss,
But they're singled out at half the cost.
Cast off and cast out and almost lost
Is the innocent cry of a life embossed.
The innocent cry of a life embossed. A judgment based in human error.
A snap decision made in crippling terror.
A sentence passed down from shaking hands. Caving and twisting to frightened demands of the disillusioned masses
To slap the wrist of the lower classes of life.
To slap the wrist, to slap the... wrist It will be no defense, despite the nurturing influence.
The nature's decided, the plan is divine.
And if you should feel remorse anywhere inside you throughout the course
Of this abomination, you should feel grateful
Grateful to feel anything at all.
Grateful to feel anything at all.
Grateful to feel anything.
Grateful to feel anything.
You are the heartless.
You are the soulless beast.
Trained to kill, but unwilling
Trained to kill, but unwilling to bear witness.
Grateful to feel anything at all. Maybe you should concentrate
On the vicious people and the alarming rate
Of murderers and drug dealers with whom you share
No regard for life before you set and ensnare the same victims.
Outlining the qualities by combining varied breeds.
Breed specific legislation falls flat on its only short snout.
A death squad assembled. Why put up a fight?
The round up resembles a Crystal Night. In relation to temperament, they pass with an overwhelming percent.
The American pit bull v. the American dream.
The task is ours to keep our dogs and children safe.
Disregard the media, or the province, or the state.
With a different target every decade or so,
You can wait until they break into your home.
Repeat the lies you've bought and sold and say, "You should look up the facts?"
When you should look up the facts your fuckin' self.
Or you could stand for a dog that's not your own because your own damn dog is next.
I'm proud of every pit bull, but ashamed of my own country.

I oppose any legislature that should try and stop me
And if a pit bull is a weapon, you'll have to pry them
And if a pit bull is a weapon, you'll have to pry them
I won't stop until they lift these, these ridiculous bans.
And if a pit bull is a weapon, you'll have to pry them
And if a pit bull is a weapon, you'll have to pry them from my cold, dead hands.
