I Really Got The Feeling

Dolly Parton

I really got the feelin' that I'll love you for a long, long time
I felt it from the moment we met, you didn't ask me my sign
I love my Daddy, but it really don't matter what my Daddy might say
I really got the feelin' that I'll love you till my dyin' day
You're a gentleman
And a gentleman is gettin' mighty hard to find
These days
And you're a tender man
And you're man enough to show your love
And tender ways
I really got the feelin' that I'll love you for a long, long time
I felt it from the moment we met, you didn't ask me my sign
I love my Daddy, but it really don't matter what my Daddy might say
I really got the feelin' that I'll love you till my dyin' day
I love those silly things you do
You make me feel once more like an innocent child of two
I really got the feelin' that I'll love you for a long, long time
I felt it from the moment we met, you didn't ask me my sign
I love my Daddy, but it really don't matter what my Daddy might say
I really got the feelin' that I'll love you till my dyin' day
I really got the feelin', got the feelin'
I really got the feelin', got the feelin'
I really got the feelin' that I'll love you till my dyin' day
