Dissolution

Wynardtage

The lake lies silent there tonight
Not far from here
And the colours turn to black
Like a tear of tar - in your rigid eyesI'm walking down the path to the rocks
Where we stared into the stars
I touch the water and I see your face
And your rigid eyesOne more time I see you die
There's no salvation
Something breaks you deep inside
It's the end of your dissolutionSuddenly a bright white veil is rising
Far above my head
Like an epitome of beauty I see a face
With your rigid eyesYour glow is leading me to a place
So far beyond this world
I drift away, now I can see
Through your rigid eyes
