

Reliance

New Vegas

So you think the areas are gray
But it continues each day
A bad example of the attitude you portray Act like I owe you my life
You should be burdened with strife
Can't find a single reason I could live with you as my wife So I continue to pray
And hope that you'll go away
A bad addiction to a home wrecking thing who plays With my heart and that's the bottom line
I feel so empty now What can you give me that I can't give myself?
Just what part of my life can you fix
That I can't fix my damn self Oh God, I'm losing patience each day
I've put myself in harms way
Can't seem to justify none of the shit you say Can't find another way out
Here's nothing left but pure doubt
I'm on the verge of pulling my hair straight out So if you listen to me
Not to the powers that be
We're not supposed to be together can't you see In decision is the bottom line
I feel so empty now Just what can you give me that I can't give myself?
And what part of my life can you fix
That I can't fix all by myself Just what can you give me that I can't give myself?
Just what part of my life can you fix
That I can't fix my damn self, my damn self I'm gonna show you now
This time I'm getting out
I've said it many times but this time I have figured out Just how I'm moving on It's taken way too long
Inside I know I'll feel much better when you're really gone Just what can you give me that I can't give myself?
Just what part of my life can you fix
That I can't fix my damn self Just what can you give me that I can't give myself?
Just what part of my life can you fix
That I can't fix my damn self

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>