Around You

MU330

I don't mean to disappoint you so I hang out in the closet where you wont be bothered I think my friends make you feel funny they don't make lots of money but at their house I feel comfortable so strange to feel this way around you, I used to look so up to you now I see well right through you it's so strange to feel this way around you so it seems you've sent a message well I sure got the message not a happy message you don't think that this will change things I guess it really doesn't I guess you always felt it why you got to be so strange doesn't got to be so strange
