

Hold Up My Head

Sleepwave

Silence hit my ears for the first time
In this moment I'm all alone
The lights have blurred and I'm growing numb now
I barely feel the thorns rip through my hands I've learned to watch them drown
Every last one of them could choke for all I care I suffered at your hand and under your law
If I met your God I'd be at a loss with nothing to say No I never ever thought it'd come to this
Now I'm the empty one with no one here left to hold up my head
You hold my head
There's no one left here to hold up my head
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>