

Sleepwalk

The Shadows

          Last night I heard you
Opening doors and rattling chains, angel
          Last night I heard you

Tapping your nails on the window pane, angelNightmare I cannot escape, shake my head but I'm awake
          Cut myself, hurt myself, I'm sleepwalkingLast night I saw you

          Stepping on glass and leaving no trace, angel
          Like a spider creeping through the crack

In the wall of a lonely place, angelFollow every step I take, stranger I cannot forsake
Shake myself, can't wake myself, I'm sleepwalkingIn the corner of my eye, moving, shifting
          A figure dressed in white, floating, drifting"Last night I touched you

          As you turned to hide your crying face, angel
          Last night I felt you

As you held me in your cold embrace, angel"Dream from which I can't awake

          Witches spell I cannot break
          Scratch myself, bleed myself

I'm sleepwalkingIn the corner of my eye, moving, shifting
          A figure dressed in white, floating, drifting
          Gone before the time I turn my head
          I swear I hear her voice calling me

Songwriters

SANTO FARINA, JOHNNY FARINA, ANN FARINAPublished by Lyrics Â© CARLIN AMERICA INC, BMG RIGHTS MANAGEMENT US, LLC, ANIRAF INC

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlrics.com/>