Used To The Pain

Keith Urban

And so I wrote this song for you
I think I know just what you're going through
Did you believe you'd never change
And nothin' ever stays the sameI know it's hard holdin' on
And even harder trying to let it go
And so you're frozen like a stone
But you are not aloneEvery step I take, I get a little less afraid
Of giving in to love, love, let it out
Believe me when I say, it gets better every day
Once you get used to the painWhat you hide inside I see There's a scar that's always gonna be
And there's a past in everyone
You can't undo, you can't outrun, I don't knowEvery step I take, I get a little less afraid
Of giving in to love, love, let it out
Believe me when I say it gets better every day
Once you get used to the painEvery step I take, I get a little less afraid
Of giving in to love, love, let it out
Believe me when I say it gets better every day
Once you get used to the pain
Once you get used to the painIn my life I've been proud of living
How long this same road
And all my life I've been wanting attention
How long this same road
I found faith

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/