

The Great Unknown

Laurence Fox

Here's to the great unknown
You have searched me and you know
You knew before I rose that I would fall
A word upon my lips that won't let go
You heard it all a million years agoWhere can I run away, where can I flee
You follow me even to the dark where I can't seeSo down into the darkness I must go
Looking for a place to call my home
Rising on the wings of the dawn
Hope is a mirror, this I know
If you were staring back at me
Then I'm sure you'd be there to break my fall
There to bring me
Hope as all lovers know
Is always turning back to love in hope
You'd be there to break my fall
Into the great unknow
Into the great unknow
There to break my fallHere's to the great unknown
The future is past, I know
Tomorrow was a dream I have let go
Each moment is a shock to all I've known
Was written by I a man that I wish I'd known
If there is a day for you and me
That day is here
Tomorrow is too bright for us to see
So down into the darkness I must go
Looking for a past that won't let go
Rising on the wings of the dawnHope is a mirror, this I know
If you were staring back at me
Then I'm sure you'd be there to break my fall
There to bring me
Hope as all lovers know
Is always turning back to love in hope
But you're not there to break meThere is no future to fear
There is no past
There is no time to redeem
There is no past
It is time just to live in the moments in betweenHope is a mirror, this I know
If you were staring back at me

Then I'm sure that you'd be there to break my fall
 There to bring me
 Hope as all lovers know
Is always turning back to love in hope
 That you'd be there to break my fall
 Into the great unknown
 I love the great unknown
 It's there to make you

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlrics.com/>