

This Woman And This Man

Clay Walker

Been tryin' so hard just to talk to you
Haven't heard half of what you want me to Hurt so bad over where we've been
Don't know how not to go back there again
I know what I want to say
How can I get it through to you now in some other way

Like

There was this woman
And there was this man
There was this moment they had a chance to hold on to what they had
How could they be so in love and still never see
That nothing could be sadder than this woman, this woman and this man

A stranger's eyes and a lover's face
Still no signs of a better time and place
Have we lost the key to an open door?
I feel the need to reach out to you even more
It's a circle we're going 'round
How can I get us out from under? It's gonna take us down

See

There was this woman
And there was this man
There was this moment they had a chance to hold on to what they had
How could they be so in love and still never see
That we can get it back again
This woman, this woman and this man

For all we got to lose
It's so much a gain
That we could come this far and leave it behind
There's only you and me to blame

There was this woman
And there was this man
There was this moment they had a chance to hold on to what they had
How could they be so in love and still never see

That nothing could be sadder than this woman, this woman and this man

How could they be so in love
And still never see
That we can get it back again
This woman, this woman and this man
