Tear Down The Walls

Brainstorm

The truth hurts. By destroying the world we destroy ourselves.
We have been silent far too long, hiding in anonymity.In a world, polluted inside, corruption and chaos around, the meaning of life, the principle right, nothing in the depth of the lightYou hear the screamings of the one who soars upon the wind He'll take you in his arms into a place of sinTear down the walls forever, come down to break your chains, it's time to break the silence never run, you'll never run awayWatch out for, a torturing lust, in mirrors you're facing the truth, the hunter is back, the soul of a life, wings of sadness blazing for youa speeding slab of concrete hits me in the eye no time to rest, no time to loose, it's time to dieTear down the walls forever,
come down to break your chains,
it's time to break the silence never run, you'll never run awayBroken memories, salvation denied Burning ashed they choke, rip off the skin, from deep down inside, molten fire flies through the sky

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/