

Loses Its Shine

Tim Chaisson

If I counted all the highways I had one thing my mind
White knuckles on the wheel windows down and passing time
Your heartâ€™s just too far gone and thatâ€™s the reason you hang on
To something, something, somethingâ€™

Every candle I ever wished on, while the flame burned down to wax
Every cross of the fingers I ever made behind my back
Take every ounce of faith, every card Iâ€™ve ever played
It means nothing, nothing, nothing

If this love ever loses it shine
If this love ever loses it shine
If the light between your heart and mine
Loses it shine, loses it shine
If this love ever loses it shine

Climbing up the walls, hanging on the edge
Every song would be your voice ringing in my head
Every whiskeyâ€™d be a secret way for me to kill the pain
Iâ€™d be trying to move on but I know Iâ€™d never be the sameâ€™
