

Draggin the River

Buddy Miller

Go down to the water and listen for a sound
Something like the moaning of a dove
That's where I do my crying while I'm searching for a sign
Draggin' the river of our love Did she bear some secret sorrow I could never know
That why my heart was not enough
Now she's left me looking for a trace of what we had Draggin' the river of our love There's thunder and lightning and a storm in my soul
I'm broken down and I'm fixing to cry
She was my heartbeat she was my blood
I might as well just lay down and die Solid as a tombstone silent as a grave
Now loneliness fits me like a glove
Was her promise a mistake or just an outright lie
Draggin' the river of our love

Songwriters

JULIE MILLER, STEVEN P. MILLER Published by Lyrics Â© BMG RIGHTS MANAGEMENT US, LLC

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>