

Discovering

Cliff Richard

Now, you say you belong to me
Do you ever take the time to ask me
If I want to be more involved in your life? Its so sad, you don't realize what I can do for you
Its so sad, you wont spend more time alone with me
When you could be discovering my love Can't you see just how much you're hurting me
When you say one thing and then do another
I forgive you but still you take me for granted Its so sad, you don't realize what I can do for you
Its so sad, you wont spend more time alone with me
When you could be discovering my love You know there are times
When nothing else takes my place
And those times mean more to you than anything else But still you need more of me
And I need more of you, give me more of you Its so sad, you don't realize what I can do for you
Its so sad, you wont spend more time alone with me
When you could be discovering my love
