

Moonchild

Chris Cornell

Open your arms to the lonely shine
Lonesome as gold in the poor man's smile
You see how the moon is full, follow the push and pull
Follow the ebb and flow in the breathing tide Well come on moonchild, you're so far away tonight
The door is falling open and we're flying wild Cat on the road, down in the living night
See how the black dog grins in the diamond light
We're dreaming and we're real, we're broken and we're healed
Give in to what you feel over what you see Come on moonchild, you're so far away tonight
The door is falling open and we're flying wild
Come on moon flower you're so far away from now
You could bloom forever in the hour, the hour And when it is only yes and no
And now becomes too soon
I know you'll be alright if you only, come away to the moon
And come away to the moon in the blue shine Come on moonchild, you're so far away tonight
The door is falling open and we're flying wild
Come on moon flower you're so far away from now
You could bloom forever in the hour, you could bloom forever in the hour
