Crown the Empire

(The voices inside my head are taking over, they're telling me that my life is in danger. I'm scared that the silence won't come back forever, I believe this is my darkest hour.) I pray, over and over again, that this won't be my end. I still have a long life to live, I'm begging you, begging you! I can't remember the last time, that I said goodbye or that I even cried. I'm becoming afraid, it's already too late, please help me stay alive. I hope this isn't my last night, as I lose my mind, and try to save my life, I'm on my knees, please help me stay alive. It's just too much to handle, I feel my self turn into stone. Desperate! As the voices linger, there's nothing left for me, please save my soul!

I'm running out of time, I can feel the words climbing down my spine. I'm running out of time! (I can't remember the last time) I can't remember the last time, that I said goodbye or that I even tried, I'm becoming afraid, it's already too late, I'm on my knees please help me stay alive. (Take my hand, don't let me fade today, don't let me fade away, don't let me die today.) Take my hand, I'll pray for you today! I beg to see another day, don't let me die today, die today! I can't remember the last time, that I said goodbye or that I even tried. I'm becoming afraid, it's already too late, I'm on my knees please help me stay alive!

I hope this isn't my last night, as I lose my mind and try to save my life. I'm becoming afraid, it's already too late, I'm on my knees please help me stay alive!
