The Best

Caufield

On a perfect day
Somewhat like today
We will find each other there
We will find each other there
And somewhat like the month we first met
And we can't forget the way I loved you
But I can't pretend how far we've gone
And we cannot mend what damage has been done
No, we cannot mend what damage is done now
But then we shall come home and become
The best ones we could have been
And oh, the best we could have been
And oh, the best we could have been, no
