

Crabtree and Evelyn

Rocky Votolato

I catch a hint of how you smelt on the first day that we met
As I hang up your blue pants next to mine, we're intertwined
In my closet and I'm reminded of the greenest eyes
That ever burned from behind Crabtree and Evelyn Neither could have known the plans that were in store
I'm seeing our home again, you're decorating the walls
With pieces from the waters of your shipwrecked past
Trying to make sense of how two of the darkest lives
Came together to give this world light A world that's cracking and leaking all around me
I can spend my day knowing my love for my lady
Every song we hear was written just for you and for me
We can show up late and leave early, early I catch a hint of how you smelt on the first day that we met
I feel the aching and yearning of being that you bury in me
The gift of the moment I'm in reminds me of the greenest eyes
That ever burned from behind Crabtree and Evelyn, oh

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>