Days Turn Brighter

Imaginary War

Days turn brighter, I should treasure this brittle peace allows the way to bliss

With a shake of my head, I wake up early in my bed
I've to regret, I've to forget, I will set fires where I'm trapped

Days turn brighter
Views are wider
And we came from hell, where we Heard the death knell

Days turn brighter
Views are wider
And we strain upwards!
And we strain upwards!

With everything I was, I trusted you
The truth is the worst if it comes true

With a stitch in my heart, I take a breath and restart I've to release, to win the peace. Truth be told: till death do us part

Days turn brighter
Views are wider
nights getting longer
we grow stronger
