A World Away

Spoken

I've been here before, trying to put my feeling into words.
It just doesn't work.
Feels like I've been gone forever, it seems it's been so long, since I've heard your voice.
I need you here with me; so much it's hard for me to breathe.I've been gone far too long to face today alone.
I try to think of another time, when I have felt this way, but nothing comes to mind.
I feel I am a world away, there's so much distance between us.
I need your touch, to see you smile, to sing to you, to hear your voice.To touch your hair, to make you laugh, to talk to you, to hold you close, but I'm a world away.
