Too Good to Be True

Edens Edge

You walked in shining brighter than a headlight
Turning every head like a diamond in a coal mine
Packing more punch than a Mississippi fist fight
Oh oh my myWalked my way, took my hand, said "Let's go"
Had more game than the Mandalay Casino
Thought I hit the jackpot, I was on a good roll
Showed you what I knowToo good to be true
Like diamonds on the soles of my shoes
Like money falling out of the blue
Don't be fooled
He ain't nothing but too good to be real
Don't believe the way he's making you feel
He'll break your pretty little heart in two
Momma told me about boys like you
Too good to be trueBefore I knew it my heartstrings unwound
I fell faster than a cannonball straight down
Everybody talking all over this now:
"Look there he goes again"Lie lie lied like a politician
Shoulda read the headlines, paid more attention
To my suspicions, my intuition
I shoulda listenedToo good to be true
Like diamonds on the soles of my shoes
Like money falling out of the blue
Don't be fooled
He ain't nothing but too good to be real
Don't believe the way he's making you feel
He'll break your pretty little heart in two
Momma told me about boys like you
Too good to be trueI shoulda seen it from a mile away
I should have called a spade a spade
I shoulda known that you'reToo good to be true
Like diamonds on the soles of my shoes
Like money falling out of the blue
Don't be fooled
He ain't nothing but too good to be real
Don't believe the way he's making you feel
He'll break your pretty little heart in two
Momma told me about boys like you
Too good to be trueToo good to be trueYou're just too good to be (too good to be)

You're just too good to be (too good to be)
You're just too good to be true
Too good to be true
You're just too good to be
You're just too good to be
You're just too good to be true
