

Hope

Kristin Hersh

I know I don't want you
I know I don't want you
I feel broken
I feel broken and miles away
Let the brain bells ring again
Let the angels sing again
Drain the bottle, drink you in
I won't stop till your mother brings you home
Nobody's muscle could break your bone
Nobody's thirst could take your tears
Where do I live when you disappear?
Oh no, not again
I'm the airstrip where you land
Take me to the Promised Land
This is all I understand
I broke me, I can break you too
Nobody tells me what to do
I saw hope in my backyard
Nobody told me this would be so hard
Not again
I know I don't want you
I know I don't want you
I feel broken
I feel broken and miles away
