

Under The Thumb

Tom Baxter

You twisted a nerve, you put your hand on your heart and
You said, Hey, don't worry, you're fit woman, that's all that counts
And I ignored all the usual signs, not really knowing quite why
I let you decide, yeah Ain't it funny how, I'm finding out now
It makes me laugh, how I let you have your way
And you say I got it now, so I'm asking you, babe Did I ever even cross your mind?
'Cause it's not a game of who is under the thumb
I think you took me for a ride, but I didn't see I didn't even realize
Whether we were playing games or under the thumb
I think you took me for a ride, what a waste of me A pro at the sweet talk, back into your bedroom again like
A fool I went blindly, as soon as I got the invite, yes
I ignored all the usual signs, swallowed it down with my pride
Let you decide, yeah Ain't it funny how, I'm finding out now
It makes me laugh, how I let you have your say
And your way I got it now, so I'm asking you, babe Did I ever even cross your mind?
'Cause it's not a game of who is under the thumb
I think you took me for a ride, but I didn't see I didn't even realize
Whether we were playing games or under the thumb
I think you took me for a ride, what a waste of me
What a waste of me Oh, I thought you were for real, so I kept giving more
Oh, now I want you on your knees, begging on the floor Did I ever even cross your mind?
'Cause it's not a game of who is under the thumb
I think you took me for a ride, but I didn't see I didn't even realize
Whether we were playing games or under the thumb
I think you took me for a ride, what a waste of me Did I ever even cross your mind?
'Cause it's not a game of who is under the thumb
I think you took me for a ride, but I didn't see I didn't even realize
Whether we were playing games or under the thumb
I think you took me for a ride, what a waste of me

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>