Shylock

I wouldn't wanna go home on a night like this
When I find out that some of the past has been missed
And the light in the window has burned it's fuse
I pull everything inwards but everything's looseEverything inwards, but everything's loose
Everything inwards, but everything's looseI wouldn't wanna stay out with news like this
All the engines too loud all the pavements hiss
How the scouts in the stairwell will meet again?
Pull everything inwards but everything's changed?[Incomprehensible]Everything inwards, but everything's loose
Everything inwards, but everything's looseI wouldn't wanna stay out with news like this
All the engines too loud all the pavements hiss
How the scouts in the stairwell will meet again?
Pull everything inwards but everything's changed?I wouldn't wanna go home on a night like this
When I find out that some of the past has been missed
And the light in the window has burned it's fuse
Pull everything inwards but everything's looseEverything inwards, but everything's loose
Everything inwards, but everything's loose
Everything inwards, but everything's loose
Everything inwards, but everything's loose
