

Later

Side A

how could you come with me when you knew all along that you had to go how could you watch me sleep so close to you
pretending not to know how could you memorize my name and forget who i am
how could you think
you're still the same
believing i can't
it's too late to stop pretending it's too late for a new beginning
later than the sunset
later than the rain
later than ever to love you again
how could you ask for more with an innocent smile
trusting me to stay
how could you close the door and leave me here
supposing I'm ok
how could you break down
my disguise
and uncover my fear
how could you look into my eyes ignoring my tears
it's too late to start pretending
it's too late for a new beginning
later than the sunset
later than the rain
later than ever to love you again [x2]it's too late

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>