

Fly (feat. Trevor Jackson and Bella Blue)

Aubrey Wood

Complicate me all the time
Telling poetry from simple rhymes
Sometimes it's just so hard to see what's right
Just like burning candles in the blinding light. At times I'll sit all by myself wondering what I haven't tried
But I can't help myself but try to lift my arms and fly. I can feel it deep inside
A voice within I never knew that I can call mine
But if I fly, there's a world that's yet to see
Well maybe if I fly, I'll find another part of me. Some say living's just a crazy ride
But every coaster I've tried had me screaming for my life
Though I found that if I don't raise my hands high
The wind can't pick me up so that I can fly. I can feel it deep inside
A voice within I never knew that I can call mine
But if I fly, there's a world that's yet to see
Well maybe if I fly, I'll find me. Cuz it's just lights all bursting through the skyline
And stars all waving me goodbye.
Whispers haunting me forever
But for all I can remember
Thought that you said I could never...
Fly. I can feel it deep inside
A voice within I never knew that I can call mine
And if I fly, there's a world that's yet to see
Oh yeah well maybe if I fly, I'll find me if I fly
I can feel it deep inside.
A voice within I never knew that i could call mine
And if I fly, there's a world that's yet to see
Well maybe if fly
I'll find me.
