20 Years in the Making

Element 101

If only my heart spoke, the things it would tell me
To hold onto meaning, keep on dreaming
If only my heart spoke, the things it would tell me
To hold onto meaning, keep on dreamingEverything tumbles, oh, so quickly to the ground
As I sit here wishing, waiting and anticipating
I don't know what calculations I have made
But I know, I know, I must have something rightIf only my heart spoke, the things it would tell me
To hold onto meaning, keep on dreaming
If only my heart spoke, the things it would tell me
To hold onto meaning, keep on dreamingThinking myself even deeper every day
Contemplating, formulating and even dedicating
Meanings to feelings that I can't play advocate
Still I know, I know, I must have something rightAnd butterflies, deep between my heart and stomach
Tell me I'm alive
Those butterflies, deep between my heart and stomach
Tell me I'm aliveIf only my heart spoke, the things it would tell me
To hold onto meaning, keep on dreaming
If only my heart spoke, the things it would tell me
To hold onto meaning, keep on dreaming

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/