Working for the Man

Janet Devlin

Coffee cup
Watching the hands of the clock
Holding me, locked up
Waiting for the sun to riseRed light
Caught between day and night
Can someone help me with this fight
Against the Monday morning bluesI'm tired of walking in these shoesRunning in a rat race
Always in the right place, at the wrong time
Working for the manLiving for the weekends
Struggling in quicksand, this is alright
Working for the manIts not working out for me
Is it working out for you?
Working for the manDeadlines
Living in boardroom time
Not enough hours to dream these dreams of mine
They wont even let you tryHard life
But I aint living at all
I find myself trapped behind these four walls
Working the Monday morning bluesIm tired of walking in these shoesRunning in a rat race
Always in the right place, at the wrong time
Working for the manLiving for the weekends
Struggling in quicksand, this is alright
Working for the manIts not working out for me
Is it working out for you?
Working for the manRunning in a rat race
Always in the right place, at the wrong time
Working for the manLiving for the weekends
Struggling in quicksand, this is alright
Working for the manIts not working out for me
Is it working out for you?
Working for the man (x3)Is it working out for you?
Working for the manHard life
But I aint living at allRed light
Caught between day and nightWorking for the man
