

Your Face Burnt a Hole In My Memory

The Devoted Few

your face burnt a hole in my memory don't worry girl this was meant to be it's all in my eyes, the mirrors and the chains that sailed from your lies, and kept me out you woke up the night and ran till you found the place that I couldn't find, the rocks in the city scapes the children laughed as I ran by 'there's a diamond sky tonight' they cried it's gone now, fear is inside I ran to the sea and found your torn dress it washed over me, as I searched for you the children cried as I walked by 'there's a new diamond in the sky tonight'

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>