

Lost

The Bunny The Bear

Run or Die? Well, I don't know why I ever tried.
You were my only comfort, escape from within all these lies One last time. Please, just try. I belong to you, but are you mine?
We spent nights getting high on false trust, on self pity.
We both bit off our tongues and we choked on the lies.
We spent mornings awake, bloodshot eyes in the city.
Pushed the pillow down gently and let ourselves die.
Well, I still feel your touch, hear your voice.
I still call this our home.
And I know when you left, what you lost had outweighed all you own.
I knew everything in your life, it had changed,
when you called be that night
from the bridge and you said, "I'm alone".
