

The Company (Demo Version)

Fish

Where beggars take cheques and children steal credit cards from the pockets of wrecks in the middle of the road.
I came to in my future and that was just yesterday, unsure of my past and that's a knot in my gut.
You buy me a drink then you think that you've got the right to crawl in my head and rifle my soul.
You tell me I'm free and want me to compromise to sell out my dreams you say you'll make it worthwhile.
Oh, boys would you drink to me now here on the hill, half way up, half way down You tell me I'm drunk the you sit back and smug a while convinced that you're right that you're still in command of your senses.
I laugh at your superior attitude your insincere plattitudes make me throw up.
Oh, boys would you drink to me now
here on the hill, half way up, half way down
Oh, boys would you drink to me now
here on the hill, half way up, half way down Oh for the company born to the company live for the company until I die.
The sooner you realise that I'm perfectly happy if I'm left to decide the company I choose The company I choose is solidly singular totally trustworthy, straight and sincere polished, experienced, witty and charming so why don't you push off, this company's my own.
Oh, boys would you drink to me now
here on the hill, half way up, half way down
Oh, boys would you drink to me now
here on the hill, half way up, half way down
Oh for the company, dream of the company
live for the company until I die.
Oh for the company, dream of the company
drink to the company until we die until we die
until we die.

Songwriters

DICK, DEREK WILLIAM/SIMMONDS, MIKEPublished by

Lyrics Â© Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC

Lyrics provided by <https://damnyrics.com/>