The Early November

I figured it out when I drew the lines.
I thought you should know because it came together nice.
When I say 'when' cut the strings.
They're just twisted threads in a series of flings. I figured it out it was a dream in my head.
I thought you should know because your back was so good to it.
So when I say when cut the strings.
I'm not giving up, I'm just losing this. You should know.
You should know.
You should know, know. No.
You should know, know. No, no.
You should know, know. No.
You should know, know. No, no.
You should know, know. No.
You should know, know. No, no.
You should know, know. No.
You should know, know. No, no.
You should know, know. No.
(When I say when...)
You should know, know. No, no.
(When I say when...)
You should know, know. No.
(When I say when...)
You should know, know. No, no.
(When I say when...)
You should know, know. No.
(When I say when...)
You should know, know. No, no.
(When I say when...)
You should know, know. No, no.
