

Hopelessly Coping

Wilkinson

Forget about your name
Your reputation
Put down your occupation
And your education
I heard what you said
About it being complicated
It ain't simple either way
Yes, a dream will make you pay
Somebody out here counting on you
To break through somehow
Somebody out here counting on you
To break through somehow 'Cause you don't even know it
Where are you going?
Or haven't you noticed
You're hopelessly coping? Settle, settle, settle down
Instead of running, running 'round
Settle, settle, settle down
Instead of running, running 'round Settle, settle, settle down
Instead of running, running 'round
Settle, down, settle So why play it safe?
What you mean, "just in case?"
Well of course you might fail
But that's what it takes
Can't run from the doubts
Either way you're gonna struggle
Look in the mirror in awe
Tell yourself it ain't worth the trouble
Somebody out here counting on you
To break through somehow And you don't even know it
Where are you going?
Or haven't you noticed
You're hopelessly coping? And you don't even know it
Where are you going?
Or haven't you noticed
You're hopelessly coping? Settle, settle, settle down
Instead of running, running 'round
Settle, settle, settle down
Instead of running, running 'round Settle, settle, settle down
Instead of running, running 'round
Settle, down, settle 'Cause you don't even know it
Where are you going?

Or haven't you noticed
You're hopelessly coping?

Songwriters

BRAD ELLIS, MARK WILKINSON, SETON DAUNT, THABO MKWANANZI
Published by Lyrics © Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>