Satan, You're a Liar

Shirley Caesar

You said I'd never make it, you said I'd wouldn't last
You said I'd be returning to my actions of the past
With the crowd I used to run with, saying the things I used to say
But I wish you'd stand back, take a look at me today

Satan, you're a liar, you're a liar
You should know by now I know you are a liar
There's one thing you can't deny
You're the father of every lie, you're a liar

I gave my heart to Jesus, you laughed and I heard you speak
Remember you spoke through someone that it would not last a week
But I've walked with the Master through the flood and through the fire
And if I've learned anything at all, I've learned you are a liar

You're a liar, you're a liar
You should know by now I know you are a liar
There's one thing you can't deny
You're the father of every lie, you're a liar

There's one more thing devil I wanna tell ya

I know your everything in this world except my friend
But still you have the courage
The nerve to come around and bother me again
To tell me I'm not born again, Heaven' is not reality
If Jesus Christ is not the Son of God, Satan listen good to me

You're a liar, you're a liar
You should know by now I know you are a liar
There's one thing you can't deny
You're the father of every lie

You are a liar, Satan, you are a liar, Satan
You should know by now I know you are a liar
There's one thing you can't deny
You're the father of every lie

You're a liar, a listen
You tried to tell me I wasn't born again

True liar
You tried to tell me God wasn't gonna heal my body

You're liar
Satan you're liar
Satan you're liar
Satan you're liar

You tried to tell me He wasn't turnin' back again
I know you're liar
Satan you're liar
Satan you're liar
You're a liar

Lyrics submitted by Emmanuel.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/