Tsunami Bomb

Woke up this morning, the light came in just right with the rain. Thunder in the distance, we counted how far awat, Watched the people acted like we knew what they were up to. They could never have as much as we do together. Today was the best day. I realized what I wanted to say: 'Come what may, I'll be there for you'. Stayed up till sunrise - no big surprise, it's a marathon. I might be gone soon, but please believe I hold you up to the highest degree.
