Break In

Roger Molls

put your lighter in the air and lead me back home, woah when it's all said and done I'll follow the echoes
I hear you night after night calling out my name, mmhmm and I find myself, running to meet you I didn't want to escape from the bricks that i laid down you are, the only one, the only one that see me trusts me and believes me you are the only one, the only one that knows me, and in the dark you show me yeah it's perfectly reckless, damn, you leave me defenseless. so break in, break in you let me fall apart without letting go then you pick up the pieces and you make me whole i didn't wanna escape from the bricks that I laid down you are, the only one, the only that sees me, trusts me and believes me you are, the only one, the only one that knows me and in the dark you show me

yeah its perfectly reckless, damn, you leave me defenseless
so break in,
and take everything I have, till there is nothing left until it's just your voice in my head and when the lights come on you see me as I am you're still inside me you are the only one, the only one that sees me, trusts me and believes me you are the only one, the only one who knows me, and in the dark you show me yeah it's perfectly reckless, damn, you leave me defenseless
so break in,
break in put your lighter in the air and lead me back home

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/