

Trainwreck

Banks

Hey

I heard it from the state

They told me you were never gonna let me get away
And if you tell me fiction, you will never get me back
I had to get away, I had to get away, ay, ay

Hey

You try to compensate

You thinking with your one brain, watch you decapitate
You show me all your letters and I should've confiscated
Put my eyes away, and I had to get away Talking to ears that have been deaf for as long as I can remember
A self-medicated handicap so I speak to myself
And I try so hard to get his stupid deaf ears to hear
That have become illiterate, I've become dumb
Hey, hey, hey When I'd come through

You were dark blue

And I saved you

From your darker days

Born to

Take care of you

Oh, I thought so

Baby, it was just a phase Hey

I heard it from the state

They told me you were never gonna let me get away
And if you tell me fiction, you will never get me back
I had to get away, I had to get away, I had to get away

Hey

You try to compensate

You thinking with your one brain, watch you decapitate
You show me all your letters and I should've confiscated
Put my eyes away, and I had to get away Shut down by a guy I never wanted to kiss
Not gonna hear this singing of this ringing triumph thing
And I'm chugging along in a train

And I'm heading the wrong way, and I'm a trainwreck
And my heart goes beat, beat, beat to the music of this sad same song

It's quite depressing, there's no fixing to the problem
When you're talking to an idiot When I'd come through

You were dark blue

And I saved you

From your darker days

Born to
Take care of you
Oh, I thought so
Baby, it was just a phase
Saving
Only made me
Just a dreamer
But I soon found out
That the traintracks
Were behind me
Tried to warn me
Oh, but my ears went out When I'd come through
You were dark blue
And I saved you
Born to
Take care of you
Oh, I thought so
Baby, it was just a phase Hey
I heard it from the state
They told me you were never gonna let me get away
And if you tell me fiction, you will never get me back
Hey
You thinking with your one brain, watch you decapitate
You show me all your letters and I should've confiscated
Put my eyes away, and I had to get away
