

Island

Fear of Men

I'm like an island
I don't need to feel your arms around me
I'm like an island without a shore
Oh oh, oh oh Used to be scared to feel misunderstood
Now I don't care if I'm not what you want
Used to be scared to feel the stronger one
Oh oh, oh oh You tell me impossible things that break me, that break me
You tell me impossible things that shake me, that shake me
To my core I will do what I want (oooooh) I'm out of wax forevermore
I need the silence, I will shed you like I shed my body
I need the silence to know it's pure
Oh oh, oh oh I'm faithful to my own morality
Convictions that bend when I'm in shallow seas
You've seen it all and yet you disagree
Oh oh, oh oh You tell me impossible things that break me, that break me
You tell me impossible things that shake me, that shake me
To my core I'll be brave getting what I want I'm out of wax forevermore 'Cause you know that I've been dreaming, been dreaming of no one for so long
Cause I know that I've been making mistakes
It washed your faith away When the Earth crumbles beneath us, flesh and bones aren't enough
Suffocating what's left
Oh oh, oh oh
You tell me impossible things that break me, that break me
You tell me impossible things that shake me, that shake me
To my core I will be what I want I'm out of wax forevermore
