What's All This Then?

A.R. Kane

With your eyes open, doors open you see what I mean?
but you're still dreaming, you're sleeping you can't do a thing can't do a thing now, you're in now in over your head reach for the stars boy, not fast Ka's boy!What's all this then: why are you running around?
What's all this then: you know you're sure to be found What's all this then: I told you once before the postman may ring twice but fate comes knocking at your door.They say love lasts forever but I'm sure it lasts much longer than the time it takes for planets and stars to tear asunder, I can't live on my own for 45 more years, the sea became a lake, a lake a pool, a pool my tears.
What's all this then?Sweet tear, sun ah, say o, sonno wo ho
