

Totally Wired.

The Fall

I'm totally wired
Totally wired
I'm totally wired
Totally wired Can't you see
A butterfly stomach 'round ground?
I drank a jar of coffee
And I took some of these And I'm totally wired
Totally wired
I'm totally wired
Totally wired Life leaves you surprised
Slaps you in the eyes
If I were a communist
A rich man would bale me The opposite applies
The morning light
Another fresh fight
Another row, right, right, right, right And I'm totally wired
Just totally wired
I'm totally biased
Totally wired You don't have to be weird to be wired
You don't have to be an American brand
You don't have to be strange to be strange
You don't have to be weird to be weird But I'm totally wired
Totally wired
Just totally wired
I'm totally wired My heart and I agree
My heart and I agree
I'm irate, peeved, irate, peeved, irate, bad state
Bad state 'Cos I'm totally wired
Totally wired
Just totally wired
Totally wired And I'm always worried
And I'm always worried
And I'm always worried
And I'm always worried
