

Dirty Old Town

Craig Cardiff

Dirty old town, dirty old town
They've got all your little problems clearly written down
But you don't even know and you can't even see
And oh the butterfly that you're going to be
Oh the butterfly that you are becoming All the roads and all the miles
But hair goes grey and eyes stay wide
Fall into bed, turn off the light
Fall asleep inside You're the one, you're the one, you're the one
And hearts grow into hearts until hearts become one
But you're the one, you're the one, you're the one
I carry your heart in my heart, sung with every song
But you're the one
You're the one Poised with grace in this poisoned place
And how you ever manage to keep it off your face
But you don't even know and you can't even see
And oh the butterfly that you're going to be
Oh the butterfly you are becoming Dirty old town, dirty old town
They've got all your little secrets clearly written down
But you don't even know and you can't even see
And oh the butterfly that you're going to be
Oh the butterfly that you are becoming You're the one, you're the one, you're the one
And hearts grow into hearts until hearts become one
But you're the one, you're the one, you're the one
I carry your heart in my heart, hearts become one
But you're the one, you're the one, you're the one
Hearts grow into hearts until hearts become one
But you're the one, you're the one, you're the one
I carry your heart in my heart, sung with every song
Fall asleep inside
