Missing Person

J.J. Cale & Eric Clapton

I've been asking some people, if they remember
A girl they forgot, with brown eyes, hair cut, red dress
Have you seen her? I think she's much leaner
I guess she is missing, it's trueShe has gone out there somewhere
Disappeared into thin air, I'd just like to find her
I'd like to remind her the good times we had then
More than just good friends, I guess she is missing, it's trueI've been asking around and what I have found
She moved on farther this time
I've been checkin' it out, there ain't no doubt
That woman used to be mineShe is a missing person
She's hidin' away you see
She is a missing person
She's so much lighter than I'll beShe is a missing person
She's got a new rider, she's so much tighter
Missing person
She's hidin' away from meShe up and she left, now she's gone
She didn't even give me a clue
Didn't write me no notes, send me no letters
It's trueShe is a missing person, where are you?
A missing person, where are you?Missing person, hidin' away from me
Missing person, missing person
Missing person, missing person
Missing person
