One Day

Alex Hedley

All we ever wanted in this soul embedded sea
I was sinking in the waves but now I'm tall enough to feel for the other ones

Only ever turning when the world is on its knees and I'm thinking in these ways that it's hard enough to see Why they lie to you again, blame ridin' on me
I can hear the sea of your unwarm certainty in the way

All they ever wanted it's just thrown out in a drain, we are stable in our kingdow they are turning away.
All we ever learn it is not all just what seems, they wanna make you part of something that you don't want to be, and is that wrong?

One day

Only ever yearning in this cag'ed fallacy we are sinking in the pages and the self-image of who you're told you wanna be Only ever turning when the pages are clean
In the spaces in between the faces all in your ruling turgid magazine

All we ever learn it is not all just what it seems they wanna make you part of something that you dont't want to be only ever yearning yet I feel I'm half-awake I wanna float down ever carelessly away, away from me for one day

one day
one day
for one day

Only ever yearning yet I feel I'm half-awake
I was sinking now I'm crying, I was standing on the ceiling when this day began
