One Man Stands

Anthrax

The enemy is dead I can't believe what I said

The enemy is dead

Did it only exist in our head? Sheltered from the evils of the world

Until the truth is seen

Sheltered from realities of life

Your human rights are freeFreedom, taken for granted

'Cause we don't know what oppression means

Freedom, taken for granted

By the leaders who would crush the dreamA crack exposing human rights

Light against the granite sky

A crack exposing human life

A fire burnsFor the freedom

For the freedom, for the freedom

Never given, but taken

For the freedom, die for the reasonOne man stands

Hard as he waits for freedom's hand

A unified voice for freedom of choice

One man stands for life he'll give his Would you give yours to fight for a cause?

One man stands and the wall cracks

And the wall cracks, and the wall cracks

And the walls come crumblingDown with old ideals

That could never work in modern times

Free choice, religious freedom

Basic rights are on the bottom lineDown with all the icons

Of the past cold war and detente

The flock no longer fears the wolf

The flock is taking what it wants A crack exposing human rights

Light against the granite sky

A crack exposing human life

A fire burnsFor the freedom

For the freedom, for the freedom

Never given but taken

For the freedom, die for the reasonOne man stands

Hard as he waits for freedom's hand

One man stands for life he'll give his Would you give yours to fight for a cause?

One man stands and the wall cracks

And the wall cracks, and the wall cracks

And the walls come crumbling downOne man stands for life and oppression
One might cause us all children
Every man stands and fights who is my enemy?
One man's moon will fall one man standsOne man stands
Hard as he waits for freedom's hand
A unified voice for freedom of choice
One man stands for life he'll give hisWould you give yours to fight for a cause?
One man stands and the wall cracks
And the wall cracks, and the wall cracks
And the walls come crumbling down
