

No One Really Wins (Acoustic Version)

Copeland

Welcome love, I have made a place for you here

And I know every word they say

And I don't want it want to make you change
Change if you want, but don't you go and change for me
And I can love you as you are I didn't mean to make you want to leave
In the fight between my heart and mind
No one really wins this time, no one really wins this time
If you don't find a love you want, if I have acted ungracefully

And I don't want to see you go I never meant to make you want to leave
And go if you want make your way straight to the door

I hope that you'll look back before you go

'Cause grace looks back before it starts to leave
In the fight between my heart and mind

No one really wins this time, no one really wins this time

In the endless fight of grace and pride

I don't want to win this time, I don't want to win this time Change if you want, and don't you go and change for me

I will love you as you are I didn't mean to make you want to leave
It's a fight between my heart and mind

No one really wins this time, no one really wins this time

In the endless fight of grace and pride

I don't want to win this time, I don't want to win this time

In the endless fight of grace and pride

I don't want to win this time, I don't want to win this time
