Stardog Champion

Mother Love Bone

San Francisco, where the flowers bloom in spring
I said, fade to winter and see what disease brings
Augustino with his eyes once a shining sea
I said, he's half a shadow, God don't let that be meI'm a Stardog ChampionWest Virginia, that's where my father lies
He was a wartime hero, the kind that money buys
It's a diamond bracelet for my mommy's memory
That's all she wrote boy, that's all she wrote for meI'm a Stardog Champion
I'm a Stardog, that's right
