

A Lifetime Of Loneliness

Burt Bacharach

Since you left me
I'm finding out what heartbreak is
So help me, save me

You are the judge and I'm your prisonerDon't sentence me into a lifetime of loneliness

Without your love, I would die

Without your love, I wouldn't even try to carry on

I was born to love you

Spare me a life of loneliness and tearsFor I believe when love is true

One hasn't got the right to turn to someone new

One hasn't got the right to break somebody's heart

The way you broken mineCome back, I want you, need you

Bring back the love you shared with me

Without you, darling I'm such a lonely human beingDon't sentence me into a lifetime of loneliness

Without your love, I would die

Without your love, I wouldn't even try to carry on

I was born to love you

Come to my arms and rescue, rescue me
